

New Primare NP5 Prisma MK2 To Be Released August 2021

11 June 2021

- New NP5 Prisma to launch August 2021

We are pleased to announce plans to release a revised version of our popular NP5 Prisma network player, the NP5 Prisma MK2, this summer.

The development of the new model was necessitated primarily by the AKM chip factory fire, causing long-term disruption of the supply of the critical re-clocking chip at the heart of the NP5 Prisma design that allowed for the selection of output sampling frequencies.

In order to continue to make available one of our most popular models with the minimum of interruption, we have sourced a readily available chip and redesigned the circuit to maintain the performance of the original NP5 Prisma while allowing for MQA passthrough not possible with the original chip.

All features and functionality remain the same, with Spotify HiFi and Tidal Connect expected this summer to join the extensive list of connection and control features already available, including AirPlay 2, Bluetooth, Chromecast built-in, Roon

Ready and a host of other features – making the NP5 Prisma MK2 more than ever the network player for everyone.

The retail price for NP5 Prisma MK2 will be €600.

Current Status

We expect to have the NP5 Prisma MK2 available for shipment August.

Tack!