REAL-SOUND PROCESSOR

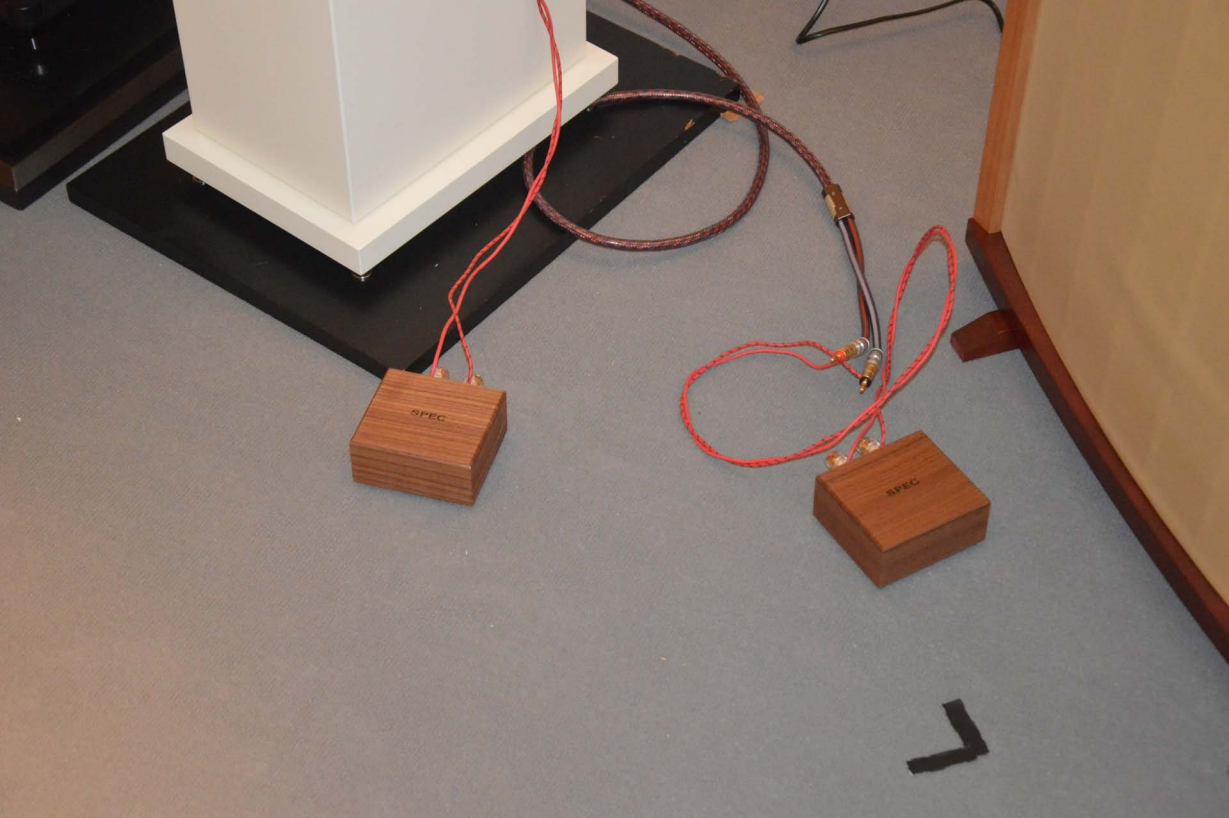

RSP-501 EX

The Real Sound processor brings out the full potential of your speakers, delivering realistic sound and rich musicality.

When playing back music on an audio device, there is generally almost counter-electromotive force in the voice coil of the speaker unit, due to changes in air output over time. This counter-electromotive force returns to the amp via the speaker cord, making it difficult to drive the speaker in accordance with the input signal. This unit absorbs counter-electromotive force, reducing fluctuations in speaker impedance, particularly in the mid to high ranges. This makes it possible to drive the speaker more faithfully, improving speaker resolution and clarity, and also reproducing opposing natural resonances, delivering realistic sound and rich musicality.

*The effects will differ depending on your speaker system and the amp used with it.
